Smt. SangitaKumari, a dedicated resident of Lukaiya village in Bokaro district, Jharkhand, has emerged as a shining example of perseverance and innovation in the field of sustainable agriculture. Over the past five years, she has wholeheartedly embraced natural and organic farming practices, cultivating a wide variety of vegetables and crops. Her commitment to eco-friendly methods has not only contributed to healthier produce but also ensured the long-term fertility of her land.

With the support and guidance of KrishiVigyan Kendra (KVK), Bokaro, Smt. Kumari has enhanced her agricultural knowledge and skills. By participating in KVK's training programs and adopting their recommended practices, she has been able to successfully implement advanced and sustainable techniques on her farm.

Through her unwavering efforts and keen understanding of agricultural techniques, Smt. Kumari has achieved remarkable financial success, earning an impressive annual income of ₹3.5 lakh. Her journey is a testament to the transformative power of sustainable farming, demonstrating that environmentally responsible practices can lead to both economic prosperity and community well-being.

In addition to her achievements in crop cultivation, Smt. Kumari has also ventured into dairy farming, further diversifying her sources of income and providing high-quality dairy products to her local community. Her integrated approach to agriculture serves as an inspiration to fellow farmers, encouraging them to adopt organic methods and explore allied activities for greater resilience and growth.

Smt. SangitaKumari's story is a powerful example of how determination, innovation, and a commitment to sustainability—supported by KrishiVigyan Kendra, Bokaro—can bring about positive change. Her success not only uplifts her own family but also motivates others in her village and beyond to pursue similar paths. Her outstanding contributions make her a deserving candidate for recognition and awards in the field of agriculture.
